WELCOMING MESSAGE

This is a momentous occasion where we celebrate the beginning of a new academic journey for our incoming students. It is with great joy and anticipation that we welcome you into the community of Universitas Pelita Harapan, a university committed to excellence, transformation, and Christ-centered education.

This year's theme, "For I Know to Whom I Have Believed" (2 Timothy 1:12), is more than a verse—it is a declaration of faith, identity, and purpose. The Apostle Paul's words remind us that our confidence is not rooted in our own strength, but in the unwavering faithfulness of Christ. As you step into this new chapter, we invite you to anchor your journey in the One who knows you, calls you, and equips you for every good work.

At UPH, our vision is to be a leading, Christ-centered university that transforms lives and communities through holistic, transformational education. We believe that true knowledge begins with the fear of God, and that academic excellence must be lived out Godly in spiritual depth and moral integrity rooted in the Christocentric faith. The mission of Universitas Pelita Harapan is to provide holistic transformational learning, rooted in Scripture and a Reformed theological framework; to contribute to the advancement of knowledge and culture, guided by a Christ-centered biblical worldview; to engage redemptively in the development of individuals and society for the glory of God.

Dr. (Hon) Jonathan L. Parapak, M. Eng. Sc.
UPH Rector

UPH Festival marks the beginning of that mission in your life. Whether you come with a strong foundation of faith, are exploring spiritual truths, or come from a different worldview, you are welcome here. We honor the diversity of backgrounds represented in our student body, and we are committed to walking alongside each of you with clarity, compassion, and courage. Education at UPH is not merely about acquiring information, it is about transformation. It is about discovering who you are, why you are here, and how you can impact the world. We believe that every student is entrusted by God with gifts, dreams, and a calling. And we are here to help you steward those gifts with wisdom, excellence, and faith.

As you participate in UPH Festival 2025, may you find inspiration, connection, and a renewed sense of purpose. May you be reminded that your future is secure, not because of what you know, but because of whom you have believed. May UPH Festival mark not just the start of your university life, but the beginning of a journey that will impact lives, your own and those who are called to serve together with you.

Welcome to UPH. Welcome to a journey of faith, learning, and transformation.

VISION

To be a Christ-centered university founded upon and promoting true knowledge, faith in Christ and godly character aiming to develop God-fearing, competent and professional future leaders through excellent, holistic and transformational education.

MISSION

1. To provide holistic transformational learning rooted in Scripture and a Reformed theological framework;
2. To contribute to the advancement of knowledge and culture guided by a biblical Christian worldview;
3. To participate redemptively in the development of individuals and society for the glory of God.

GRADUATE PROFILE

1. A scholar exposed to liberal arts education taught from a Biblical Christian Worldview
2. A leader equipped with a vision of transformation
3. A citizen encouraged to served God, his country, and his neighbors.

FOR I KNOW TO WHOM I HAVE BELIEVED

The theme for UPH Festival 2025 captures a profound spiritual truth: unwavering trust in the person of Christ. In 2 Timothy 1:12, the Apostle Paul speaks of his suffering not with shame but with confidence, grounded in his knowledge of Christ. This same message resonates deeply with incoming students at UPH who are stepping into a formative and often uncertain season of life. The theme is a declaration of assurance - not in personal strength, but in the faithfulness, power, and love of God who is able to guide, secure, and complete what He begins. It encourages students to build their identity and future not on shifting circumstances, but on a steadfast relationship with Christ.

"...which is why I suffer as I do. But I am not ashamed, for I know whom I have believed, and I am convinced that he is able to guard until that day what has been entrusted to me."

2 Timothy 1:12 (ESV)

This theme also thoughtfully considers the spiritual diversity of students attending UPH Festival. Some are born-again Christians, already walking in strong faith; for them, the theme affirms and strengthens their foundation, expressed freely in fellowship and worship. Others are professing Christians or Catholics who have not yet experienced personal rebirth in Christ; for them, the theme becomes an invitation - through testimonies, relationships, and meaningful engagement - to live out the truth believed into a living faith. For non-Christian students - whether Buddhist, Muslim, or secular - the message can be gently introduced through values-based storytelling, ethical examples, and authentic relationships that demonstrate the love and character of Christ. The key is to communicate with clarity, compassion, and contextual sensitivity, honouring each background while pointing toward transformation.

Furthermore, the theme speaks directly to the deeper identity struggles students may face. Questions like "Who am I?" and "Where am I going?" often shape their university experience. The theme answers these not with performance metrics or societal labels, but- with the security of being known and entrusted by God. While identity is often shaped by family, community, academics, and appearance, these sources can sometimes fail or disappoint. In contrast, a personal relationship with Christ - "to whom I have believed" - offers the most stable foundation that will never betray them. It reminds students that their worth and purpose come from being created after the image and likeness of God Himself, loved, and called by God.

The theme also aligns with UPH's institutional vision of being a Christ-centered university rooted in true knowledge, faith in Christ, and godly character. "For I Know to Whom I Have Believed" echoes the mission to develop students holistically - spiritually, academically, and professionally - so they can become God-fearing, competent, and transformative leaders in society. It emphasizes that education at UPH is not just about mastering information, but about walking with the One who gives them the true meaning, worth, purpose, and direction to all aspects of their life.

Finally, this theme serves as a beacon of hope and trust as students embark on their academic and personal journeys. It acknowledges the uncertainties and challenges they may encounter, but also assures them of God's power to guard, nurture, and fulfill His purpose in them. In a time when the future often feels fragile, this message invites every student to place their confidence in the faithful hands of God - because what He entrusts, He will complete. This is not just a festival theme; it is a life-defining conviction.
